FOURTEENTH LEGISLATURE - SECOND SESSION

A BILL

For an Act entitled: "An Act relating to a cause of action and sentencing for certain offenses involving discriminatory harassment."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

* Section 1. AS 09.55 is amended by adding a new section to read:

ARTICLE 8. DISCRIMINATORY HARASSMENT.

Sec. 09.55.650. DISCRIMINATORY HARASSMENT ACTION. (a) A person may maintain an action for discriminatory harassment against another person, or against the parent or legal guardian of a minor, who has caused physical injury to the person or damage to the property of the person, with the intent to intimidate or harass the person because of the person's sex, sexual orientation, race, color, religion, national origin, or physical or mental disability.

(b) Actual and punitive damages may be awarded to a prevailing plaintiff in an action brought under this section. An award of damages against the parent or legal guardian of a minor under this section must be predicated upon conduct of the parent or legal guardian that is at least negligent. An award of damages under this section does not preclude a person from seeking other remedies available under law.

(c) A party filing a complaint or an answer under this section, shall serve an informational copy on the executive director of the Alaska State Commission for Human Rights.

* Sec. 2. AS 12.55.155(c)(22) is amended to read:

Re: CSHB 194, "An Act relating to a cause of action and sentencing for certain offenses involving discriminatory harassment."

Date: March 10, 1986

The House Judiciary Committee recently heard and passed out CSHB 194 (Jud). The bill as originally presented to the committee by the Rules Committee by request of the Governor was a lengthy bill with which the committee had a number of problems. The scope of the bill was narrowed considerably by the committee to its present form. The committee substitute bill also reduced the fiscal impact of the legislation to zero.

The original bill included a provision requiring the court system to submit a lengthy and involved annual report to the Human Rights Commission. This created a substantial fiscal impact on the court system. That section was removed from the committee substitute. Another section of the original bill, which was also deleted in the substitute, was one requiring an informational copy of any civil action filed for discriminatory harassment to be served on the director of the Human Rights Commission.

The Human Rights Commission had requested that this latter section be added back to the committee substitute.
During committee debate on the substance of the substitute, this request was not discussed and therefore was not added back into the committee substitute. The executive director of the commission has stated that this provision has no fiscal impact but is necessary in order to fulfill the commission's statutory monitoring functions of human rights violations in the state.

When your committee hears this bill, you might want to consider reinstating the provision requiring the service on the commission of an informational copy of a civil action filed under the act. Attached is a copy of the letter from the director of the Human Rights Commission on the bill.

Re: CS for House Bill 194 (Judiciary)

Dear Representative Miller:

I have received and reviewed the proposed committee substitute for the original bill introduced at the request of the Commission by Governor Sheffield prohibiting certain offenses involving discriminatory harassment, HB 194.

This bill is the result of substantial effort on the part of the Human Rights Commission, the Anchorage Equal Rights Commission and members of a Task Force assembled by state and local commissions over the past two and one half years. This Task Force collected and studied incidents of discriminatory harassment in the state and determined that there was a need for legislation to deal with this problem.

The Alaska Human Rights Commission has advocated for legislation prohibiting acts of discriminatory harassment since 1981. HB 194 represents our third attempt at passage of such legislation. It appears that while all have agreed that this legislation is desirable, considerable debate has taken place about the technical approaches to incorporating the provisions of the criminal section of the bill into the existing criminal code. Most recently, members of your committee have raised concerns about the section of HB 194 which provided for escalation of sentences for criminal acts already punishable by presumptive sentencing. Within the Native community, we have heard serious objections voiced about the impact of presumptive sentencing on Alaska Natives. We are also sensitive to the problem of the increasing numbers of inmates in the correctional institutions and the enormous burden this places on the state. For these reasons we have been amenable to amending HB 194.

Quite simply, there is considerable frustration at this point in moving forward toward our goal of protecting Alaskans from acts of discriminatory harassment by passage of legislation which recognizes the special character of acts motivated by bigotry and prejudice.
Nonetheless, the Commission supports the proposed judiciary committee substitute with the following comments:

First, we note that the protections in the committee substitute have been expanded to include sexual orientation. Since this protection was not included in HB 194 as originally proposed, the Commission has not considered this question. Eight years ago, the Alaska Human Rights Commission passed a motion endorsing the addition of "sexual preference" as a protected class to the agency's enabling legislation.

Second, we note that the requirement for the informational copy to the Commission of complaints filed under the remaining civil section has been deleted. The Commission feels strongly about this reporting requirement and urges its inclusion in the substitute bill.

Nationally, reporting provisions for this type of activity are deemed a critical factor in opposing the spread of racial and religious violence. The Alaska Commission and the Discriminatory Harassment Task Force have pledged to monitor incidents of discriminatory harassment in Alaska. The Commission's receipt of informational copies of court actions filed under the proposed committee substitute are essential to our objective. AS 18.80.060(5) gives the Commission the duty "to foster through community effort or goodwill, cooperation and conciliation among the groups and elements of the population of the state". The Commission and the Task Force will work together to develop educational programs based on the information collected as a result of this legislation.

Finally, the Commission hopes that passage of CS HB 194 (Judiciary) will create an awareness in the Legislature and throughout Alaska of a continuing need for even more comprehensive legislation on this subject. The Human Rights Commission, sadly enough, believes that we must increase our vigilance and redouble our efforts to combat the spread of bigotry and racism in Alaska.

Sincerely,

Janet L. Bradley

Re: CS for HB 194 (Judiciary)

Dear Representative Adams:

The Commission requests your committee to amend CS HB 194 (Judiciary) by reinserting Section 09.55.650(4)c of the original HB 194.

This subsection provides for an informational copy of complaints filed under the Discriminatory Harassment Action section of the bill to be sent to the Commission. HB 194 is supported by a Discriminatory Harassment Task Force comprised of constituent groups which have joined the Alaska Human Rights Commission and the Anchorage Equal Rights Commission for the past two years in efforts to deal with incidents of racism and bigotry in Alaska. The Task Force is pledged to monitor this growing concern and believes that informational copies of actions filed in court as provided by HB 194 is essential to their objective.

AS 18.80.060 (5) gives the Commission the duty "to foster through community effort or goodwill, cooperation and conciliation among the groups and elements of the population of the state". The Commission and the Task Force will develop educational programs in response to court actions and incidents of discriminatory harassment.

The Commission's request for re-insertion of the informational copy as provided by Section 09.55.650(c) will not require a fiscal note.

The Commission urges passage of HB 194 to combat the spread of bigotry and racism in Alaska.

Sincerely,

Janet L. Bradley

HB194 - "An Act relating to sentencing for certain offenses involving discriminatory harassment."

Our interpretation of the intent of this legislation is that it is an attempt to curb discriminatory harassment by making it a felony crime.

No additional enforcement activity is anticipated, but the Division supports the legislation as an effective tool in fighting these types of crimes.

Suspect on trial in clubbing death

BY SHEILA TOOMEY
Daily News reporter

One of two men accused of letting a 15-year-old carpenter pick them up in a bar so they could rob him went on trial for murder Tuesday in Anchorage Superior Court.

Charles Cole, 21, and Matthew Decker, 19, are charged with first-degree murder in the April 3 death of Ray Barker, found clubbed to death in his trailer home at 3440 E. 64 Ave. Cole and Decker were arrested the next day.

In his opening statement against Cole on Tuesday, Assistant District Attorney Gail Frates said the two defendants were broke and went looking for a victim among homosexual men who frequented several downtown bars.

"They decided to troll a gay bar and pick up somebody and rob them," he said.

They killed Barker deliberately, he said, and then panicked because they got only $50, a television and Barker's truck.

But defense attorney Mark Ashburn said the two men played different roles in the crime. Decker, not Cole, set the plan in motion, he said. Decker, not Cole, had a history of going home with gay men and robbing their homes in the middle of the night.

Cole was out of the room when the killing blows were struck, Ashburn said.

The two men found Barker earlier that evening at The Raven, a bar on Gambell Street, and arranged to meet him at another bar, The Jade Room, Frates said. Barker was "a great big bear of a man ... a rather gentle, friendly person" who befriended street people and not necessarily for sexual purposes.

He took the men home and cooked them a fried chicken and green bean dinner. During the dinner, said Ashburn, Barker asked his guests if they "were into sexual activities."

Here the prosecution and defense versions of what hap-

President Frederick McCorriston declined comment on the filing, other than to say all three establishments will remain open while reorganization takes place.

McCorriston and Wayne Ross bought the Pines in 1984, reportedly paying more than $2 million for the 20,000-square-foot establishment. It was owned previously by Russell and Jeri Pace, who bought in 1965 and expanded it from a 40-seat bar into a 600-seat restaurant and dance hall.

Alaska Tightens Belt As Oil Revenues Sag

By Paul Jenkins

Associated Press Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - Alaskans riding out the plunge in oil prices may have to trim some of the pork out of state government, but they still will be living fairly high on the hog.

"We were once filthy rich," said state House Speaker Ben Grussendorf of Sitka. "And now we're just healthy."

While legislators try to make some sense of the ever-changing oil price and state income numbers, a hair-pulling, ear-biting election-year Donnybrook may be shaping up over the shrinking, yet still substantial, revenues. The battle is over spending and saving, acting now or acting later.

"The big fight has already started," says Senate President Don Bennett of Fairbanks. "The only thing is that everybody is not sure of their armament or ammunition."

In Alaska, oil is king. It generates 85 cents of every dollar the state takes in. Fishing, timber and tourism pale by comparison. There is little other industry.

Every time Middle East developments jolt prices by a dollar, there...
KILLER GETS 85 YEARS

PALMER (AP) — Saying "no one should have to die for being the wrong color," a Palmer judge Thursday sentenced 23-year-old John Dunkin to 85 years in prison for the shooting death of a black man last spring.

The sentence means Dunkin, who is white, won't be eligible for parole for 50 years. Dunkin has convicted in October of first-degree murder for killing 43-year-old Julius Marshall.

Superior Court Judge Beverly Cutler cited numerous examples of what she called the racial motivation for the murder.

"These are not mere allegations of racism," she said. "It's overwhelming proof."

At Dunkin's trial, witnesses said Dunkin referred to Marshall as a "nigger" or "booder" and at one point told a companion he was going to "haze the spook."

Dunkin denied that race had anything to do with the crime, which he did not deny committing. He denied being a racist and said he was drunk at the time.

Cutler said the crime was even less excusable because Marshall had spent a good part of May 26 getting Dunkin's four-wheel-drive vehicle unstuck from the Knik River flats and getting the vehicle running again.

Defense attorney Fred Dehey's arguments that Dunkin had a successful stint in the military, working alongside people of all colors, drew little sympathy from Cutler. A very high proportion of murder convictions involve military personnel or veterans, she said.

"Military people get some pretty grandiose notions of what they can do with guns...and what their power is," Cutler said.

Cutler ordered that Dunkin's future Permanent Fund dividend checks be deposited in a trust fund for Marshall's two young children. The money won't replace their father, Cutler said, but it will help a little.

"I hope none of you are ever going to live in fear in the state of Alaska," Cutler told Marshall's family and other blacks in the
The Honorable Ben Grussendorf
Speaker of the House
Alaska State Legislature
Pouch V
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Representative Grussendorf:

Under the authority of art. III, sec. 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill that addresses the problem of discriminatory harassment — that is, wrongful acts committed with the intent to intimidate or harass another because of the race, color, religion, national origin, or physical handicap of that person.

The bill does two things: (1) it establishes a private right of action called "discriminatory harassment" under which a person can bring a civil lawsuit for the damages caused by discriminatory acts, such as the painting of a swastika on a synagogue or on a person's home; and (2) it creates new presumptive and mandatory minimum criminal sentencing provisions to be used when crimes committed are motivated by this sort of discrimination. The thrust behind this bill is to properly identify the character of harassment and violence motivated by racial bias and religious bigotry and to increase the penalties for such acts because of that motivation.

More specifically, the first section of the bill creates a statutory private right of action under which a person can sue another for physical harm or property damage caused with the intent to intimidate or harass another person because of the sex, race, color, religion, national origin, or physical handicap of that person. The court may award actual and punitive damages to a prevailing plaintiff. Creating a special civil action such as this gives specific statutory authority for such an action, rather than the broad authority of common law. It also allows for easier tracking of lawsuits involving discriminatory harassment, because an informational copy of a complaint filed under this statute, along with the answer to it, is to be served on the executive director of the Alaska State Commission for Human Rights.
In the criminal law sections (secs. 2 -- 13 of the bill), the bill creates new presumptive and mandatory minimum sentencing provisions to address sentencing of these types of crimes with dependable consistency.

Under the state criminal code (AS 11 and AS 12), criminal conduct is classified according to its seriousness, and an appropriate penalty level is attached. This bill leaves this statutory scheme intact, but establishes mandatory minimum and presumptive terms that must be imposed if the defendant committed the offense with the intent to intimidate or harass another person because of the person's race, color, religion, national origin or physical handicap. The structure and theory behind this bill is similar to legislation passed in 1983 which established comparable sentences for assaults on a peace officer. (See AS 12.55.125(c)(2), (d) and (e); AS 12.55.135(d) and (e); AS 12.55.155(c)(13) and (e)).

Under current law, a person convicted of a first offense class A felony would ordinarily face a presumptive term of five years imprisonment. If the defendant's criminal act was motivated by discriminatory intent, this bill would require the imposition of a seven-year presumptive sentence. During a presumptive term, the offender is not eligible for probation or parole.

Under current law, presumptive terms are not imposed upon a first conviction for either a class B or class C felony. This bill imposes presumptive sentences upon first offenders convicted of class B or C felonies if the act was committed with discriminatory intent. The class B felony presumptive term is two years, and the class C felony presumptive term is one year.

If a person commits a class A misdemeanor with discriminatory intent, such as assault in the fourth degree, the defendant must be sentenced to serve at least 30 days in jail. Depending upon the defendant's prior criminal record and the facts of the offense, a court may impose up to the maximum of one year in jail.

If a defendant is convicted of a class B misdemeanor that was committed with discriminatory intent, the defendant must be sentenced to serve at least 10 days in jail. Again, depending upon the defendant's prior criminal record and the facts of the offense, a court may impose up to the maximum of 90 days in jail -- except in cases where a lesser maximum sentence is established by law, such as the 10-day maximum... that can be imposed for convictions of disorderly conduct under AS 11.61.110.

Under current law it is an "aggravating factor" in sentencing if the defendant knowingly directed the conduct constituting the offense at a victim because of that person's race, sex, color, creed, ancestry, or national origin. This bill, in sec. 7, adds religion and physical handicap to that list. A presumptive term may be increased if the court finds the existence of an aggravating factor.

In practice, this aggravating factor may only be used to increase the sentence of a repeat offender, as an aggravating factor may not be considered if it is the same reason that a presumptive sentence must be imposed to begin with. Thus, a person being sentenced for a first felony offense who is facing a certain presumptive term because he committed a crime with discriminatory intent, could not also be subject to aggravation of his sentence for the same reason.

The amendments contained in sec. 5, 8, 9, and 13 are made to ensure that all provisions that deal with some aspect of presumptive sentencing refer to all of the presumptive terms found under AS 12.55.125. As the criminal code has been amended, and presumptive penalties have been added or changed, necessary conforming amendments were not always made or were not made completely. This bill cures past discrepancies, and eliminates the problem for the future, by simply substituting a general reference to "presumptive terms" in several statutes that now contain a list of specific subsections.

Finally the bill provides that the Alaska Court System keep a record of all civil actions and criminal sentencings involving discriminatory intent. In this way, the Human Rights Commission can keep track of the type and number of such incidents occurring in Alaska.

To discourage discriminatory conduct in Alaska and to treat this conduct with the severity and seriousness it deserves, I urge your prompt and favorable action on this bill.

Sincerely,
