

VICTIMS OF SLIDE NOW RECOVERING

Victims of the earth slide of last Sunday night are slowly recovering from their injuries in St. Ann's Hospital. Several will be patients of the institution for perhaps weeks, however.

Mrs. William Lott is suffering from leg fractures, bruises, and cuts. At the time of the slide she was playing pinochle with Mr. and Mrs. Gust Erickson. When the lights went out Mr. Erickson groped his way toward a table that held some matches, he then opened the door and yelled, "Stay back!" Just then the stove pinned him to the wall and the chimney fell on Mrs. Erickson and Mrs. Lott. Mr. Erickson said he believed he heard his wife say something just as he was being carried out.

Mr. Erickson suffers from severe cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Hazel Justin, who is recovering nicely from the shock and bruises, was able to remember more than others of the victims of the slide. She was in the apartment with her son George Justin as the lights went off. He yelled for her to run out. She didn't think they should but went as far as the porch and as she hesitated there she heard many screaming and saw Pete Battello standing outside of the corner apartment and behind him several other persons.

(Continued on Page Eight)